Suggested activities

Maths

Formal methods of addition and subtraction:

- Add large numbers with a different number of digits-ensure digits are lined up correctly.
- Add numbers in different contexts for example money, weight and capacity. Include decimals ensure children line up decimals correctly.
- Subtract large numbers with different number of digits again a common mistake is that children do not line up columns correctly. Add decimals ensuring decimal point is lined up correctly.
- Subtract decimals from whole numbers, for example 7- 3.45 encourage children to use place holders so columns are lined up. 7.00 -

3.45

English: Writing

Please also complete some free writing on a topic of your choice. This should be of Y6 standard. There were many ideas on last week's work from home sheet and the sheet we sent home with work packs. Here are some new suggestions that you might find interesting!

Stories

- Retell a familiar story in a new genre. For example, retell a fairy tale as a spooky story, or retell a Roald Dahl story as a fairy tale.

Non-Chronological Reports & Fact Files

- Our new topic after Easter would be Gallery Rebels, which is all about impressionist artists. Do some research on this kind of art and create a fact file or report. You will need parental supervision for the research.

Letters

- You have learned what it was like to be an evacuee. Write a letter from your host family to your parents telling them what your new home is like. Discuss what your new school is like and how the place you have been evacuated to is different from your home.
- Write a letter to an elderly person who cannot go outside to cheer them up.
- Write a letter to a key worker to thank them for all they are doing to help people.

Diaries

- Write a diary about your time at home away from school.

Adverts

- Create an advert persuading people to stay at home. There are government examples online that may help.
